

Shedding a light

The Boston Arts Academy, a pilot school within the Boston Public School system, is our city's only public high school for the visual and performing arts. The 19 students in the senior theater class (including Shukora Matthews, below, and Kaya Manselle) wrote a play for their Senior Showcase, and tonight through Saturday at 7 p.m., you can see what they've created. "Streetlights" is a series of five vignettes that deal with issues of sexual abuse, street and domestic violence, drugs, and harmful gossip. Tickets: $5, $3 for students and seniors (recommended for middle school students and older).

*Boston Arts Academy Black Box Theatre,
174 Ipswich St., 617-635-6470 ext. 515.
bostonartsacademy.org [1W]*

THURSDAY May 3, 2007

The Boston Globe

boston.com/sidekick

SIDEKICK

Your Guide to a
Better Day

Events	2-3
Television guide	4-7
Blog Report	8-9
Horoscope	10
Comics	10-14
Crossword	13
More puzzles	14
Poker	15